

Aurora has done enough with trails

David Tomlinson does not like the Aurora Council all because they are not doing his bidding and spending more money on trails. I am with Council. There are enough trails in Aurora now. We do not need a committee spending time and spending our money. David, you could do something worthwhile if you are interested in committees: have one to look into all the special interest groups and have them fund all the projects themselves. No more tax money for special interest projects. This may close down committees in Aurora. It would let Council do other things.
