

Family Day fun set for the Aurora Cultural Centre

In addition to Arctic Adventure (see Page 15 of this week's Auroran for details), the Aurora Cultural Centre is offering a day of family fun on Monday's Family Day with a Carnival theme.

Back by popular demand, Pan Fantasy Steelband will have you moving and shaking starting at 1 p.m. Continuing the theme, members of the public will be invited to create their own Carnival headpiece with support of art animators, using felt, pipe cleaners, jewels and more.

Members of Local Colour Aurora are also set to return to the public galleries with artists Sandra Bytzek, Eva Folks, Jose K., Stu Lawson, Rick Ormond and Judy Sherman painting a real-time portrait of a local notable ? but you'll have to come out to the Cultural Centre to find out who the special guest is!
